

February 2024

Mid-winter, what a trip! Connecting with everyone was great. Floor work always seems shaky in the practice but we pulled it off.

This year has been interesting with a lot of challenges. My mother was diagnosed with stage 4 breast cancer on her lung and I have started college courses for becoming a middle school math teacher; it is through college that I work on one course at a time so that I am still able to fully participate in the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary. In regards to my mother, she is taking it one day at a time, she has started treatment and at this time the doctor is pleased with the way everything is going.

As the quote states on my phone "Still here Still strong"; keep going forward.
